Mining: Cambior prepared to sell bauxite stake
-----

¶11. Canadian mining company Cambior announced on June 16 that it is prepared to sell all or part of its 70% stake in Omai Bauxite Mining Inc. \(OBMI\) and is on the lookout for new investors with a view to having a transaction completed by year-end 2006. The company cites increasing competition from Chinese bauxite products as well as its intention to focus on its core gold business. Cambior's Omai Gold Mines Limited is contemplating restarting operation after ceasing mining last year when reserves ran out after twelve years of operation.

Oil: Sadhna to start onshore exploration in September

¶6. Commissioner of the Guyana Geology and Mines Commission (GGMC), Robeson Benn, said on July 23 that Trinidad-based Sadhna Petroleum Services Company Ltd, one of the two oil companies to sign agreements with the GOG in the last year, is to commence operations on the ground in September 2006. Sadhna will be exploring for oil on the Corentyne Coast with a license valid for four years. According to the agreement, the GOG will reportedly receive 50% of profits in the event of a commercial discovery that leads to production. Canadian firm Groundstar Resources Ltd has also obtained a license to prospect for oil in Guyana's interior.

Civil Aviation: TSA Conducts Security Workshop
-----

¶7. The GOG, in association with the Inter-American Committee against Terrorism of the Organization of American States, concluded a five-day workshop on civil aviation security in Georgetown on July ¶21. Two U.S. Transportation Security Administration (TSA) instructors led the course, which focused on standards and recommended practices by the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO). The workshop also reviewed Guyana's national security program.

Energy: MOU for US$300M hydropower station at Amaila Falls

¶8. Minnesota-based Synergy Holdings Inc has signed an agreement for the construction of a hydropower station worth US$300 million and will also make available to Guyana Power and Light (GPL) a four unit Wartsila plant that will supply 25 megawatts of power by February ¶2007. According to the two Memoranda of Understanding which were signed in May 2006, the Wartsila plant is an interim arrangement as Synergy moves to establish a 100 megawatt hydropower station at Amaila Falls, to supply hydropower to the national grid. The hydropower plant will break ground in August 2007. Synergy President Makershwar Flip Motilall said that 70% to 75% of the US$300M financing for the Amalia Falls hydropower plant will come from multilateral banks and the remainder from equity financing through the private sector. According to Motilall the firm does not intend to seek a local source of financing. The project is expected to begin commercial operation by late 2010.
